Adlai says he's needed badly in Illinois

By BILL WINTER

Staff writer

Illinois needs Adlai badly for a restoration of the state's leadership and progress, former U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson is convinced.

As his expected Democratic primary victory approaches, he thinks it is important to all that he wins the office of governor held by his father in 1949-52.

Aggressive state-federal action is needed to solve St. Louis metropolitan area bridge congestion and deterioration, the candidate told the Press-Record/Journal Tuesday. He called for focusing Illinois economic development efforts on true priorities as determined by citizens of each region.

MADISON-ST. CLAIR counties have serious needs, with the state reacting ineffectively. It is vital that voters end the James Thompson administration in 1986 after 10 years, Stevenson said. The previously undefeated Democrat lost to the Republican incumbent by 5,678 votes out of millions cast in 1982 and has pledged to fight hard to reverse that result.

"Thompson has lost touch with this area and the state," Stevenson said in an exclusive interview here.

He cited inaction on the bridges linking Metro East and St. Louis after years of traffic delays and hazards compounded by structural decay of the Mississippi River spans. Access from highways also is inadequate at some of the five bridges he has studied, Stevenson said.

EXCEPT FOR PROGRESS on road construction, particularly when John Kramer was Illinois transportation director, the state administration has been inattentive and insensitive to Southwestern Illinois problems, Stevenson said.

"Whatever department you're dealing with, you don't get answers. Whether you are concerned about money to operate schools, the size of your electric bill, or a problem with your tax return, you can't get help."

"We are one of the richest states but have one of the worst economic performances in the country."

"I'M FOR GOOD government. And the people deserve to have a government that is smart in the way it decides on public expenditures."

"I'm going to campaign against the record of the present administration. The record is that our government has broken down. Build Illinois public works are being used to attract votes but there was no attempt to relate their cost to the state's actual economic resources."

"If there is any area that needs the assistance of the state, it's Metro East. But it is getting very little of the Build Illinois money.

"COLUMBIA-WATERLOO was not developed as a major airport because we couldn't get the governor involved, although there was good cooperation by the Nixon administration."

"Even on the important effort to build a replacement Lock and Dam 26 here, in which we succeeded, he didn't attend meetings on it. He didn't send a delegation."

Crime increases in Madison; truck stop blamed

By DONNA KIMBRO

Staff writer

MADISON — With the addition of the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza on Illinois 203 to the city, crime in Madison increased by 40 percent during 1985, Police Chief William Papa said.

His report was presented to the City Council Tuesday night.

The department attained a record in arrests for driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI), charging 75 persons with that offense.

MAJOR CRIMES totaled 2,084 from Jan. 1, 1985, through Dec. 31, 1985, including robberies, assaults, burglaries, thefts and auto thefts, compared to 1,485 cases in 1984.

Papa said, "The figures for 1985 include both the previous city area and crimes at the truck stop area to the south."

Thefts in 1984 numbered 139, increasing last year to 152, including 36 cases at Gateway.

A DECREASE was noted in crimes against persons, 112 in 1984 and 86 in 1985. Robberies remained about the same, with 12 in 1984 and 19 in 1985, the latter including seven robberies at the truck stop.

Motor vehicle thefts were the same for both years, with 69 reported. Dog bites dropped from 24 in 1984 to 18 in 1985, and juvenile reports declined from 85 in 1984 to 67 in 1985.

Newspaper's distribution on track, Jarvis says

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA

Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Distribution of the Press-Record is on track, said the newspaper's president and publisher, Richard Jarvis.

Problems were experienced after a contract to distribute the newspaper was cancelled on Dec. 26 by Granite City News Co., operated by Elmer Miller of Granite City. The company operated independently of this newspaper, Jarvis said.

REPEATED EFFORTS yesterday and this morning for comment on his severed relations with the Press-Record were unsuccessful.

Granite City News Co. decided to cancel its service after a contract review was requested, Jarvis said. The contract between the two companies had been renewed automatically from year to year since it was signed in 1970.

"THE CONTRACT was so outdated," Jarvis said.

Changes in costs had been made verbally without being reflected in that contract, Jarvis said. Also, since the newspaper's acquisition, several other things had changed, such as the frequency of distribution.

"I had a new contract that I was ready to sit down and talk with him about," Jarvis said. "I did not want to cancel our contract, meaning I still wanted a contract with him, but not the one we had."

A REGISTERED LETTER from Jarvis was sent to Miller announcing plans to review the contract, but Jarvis heard nothing from Miller until Miller's letter arrived in late December.

"My deliveries of Dec. 26, 1985, will be my last and our agreement of Dec. 31, 1970, is hereby terminated," Miller stated in the letter.

The notice gave little time for the Press-Record to distribute its next issue.

"He (Miller) terminated the contract with me and he only gave me 2 1/2 days' notice to get everything together for the distribution of the Thursday paper," Jarvis said.

"As of (that) Monday afternoon, we didn't have the names of any news boy or girl, or any subscriber to the Press-Record," Jarvis said.

"When I called Miller to ask for subscriber records, he said I would have to talk to his attorney.

"WE HAD TO WORK night and day making innumerable phone calls trying to find the news boys and girls and all current subscribers."

"I'd like to apologize to those persons we missed the first week because there were some gaps we were unable to fill."

"We even took it upon ourselves to deliver a paper to every house in the areas where we didn't have someone delivering. This was done to ensure that all of our faithful readers received a Press-Record."

Recovery operations

ICY WATERS ARE SEARCHED at the Chain of Rocks Canal for the body of Clifford D. Potts of South St. Louis by Buddy Horstmeier of the Bubblemasters Underwater Recovery Team (B.U.R.T.). B.U.R.T. was assisted in the search by the Alton Volunteer Emergency Corps. Authorities believe Potts was murdered Dec. 30, and his body was dumped in the canal. His body has never been recovered. Charles A. Thompson, 27, of Madison and Pamela J. Wiley, 22, of Granite City, have been charged with Potts' murder. The preliminary hearings for Thompson and Wiley is set for 9 a.m. tomorrow in the County Courthouse, courtroom 12, Edwardsville.

Memorial march slated for Martin Luther King

By VALERIE EVENDEN

Staff writer

VENICE — A memorial march and church services honoring slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will take place in Venice on Sunday, Jan. 19.

"If it's cold, then bundle up and come out anyway," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echoles urged City Council members and area citizens at last week's meeting.

THE MARCHERS will assemble in the 1200 block of Market Street at 3 p.m. Sunday and walk several blocks to New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, 1349 Klein St.

Memorial services will begin at the church at 3:30 p.m.

Local church and civic leaders, the Madison-Venice Branch of the NAACP National Association for the Advancement of Colored People headed by the Rev. Harold Wilson Sr., and Urban League members are spearheading the memorial march.

DR. KING was born Jan. 15, 1929, and his birthday will be observed by federal law on the third Monday in January, Monday, Jan. 20.

This year is the first in which the birthday has been designated a federal holiday and also a state holiday in Illinois.

Public and parochial schools in the Quad-City Area will be closed Monday, along with federal and state offices, banks, and savings and loan firms. Project Head Start centers also will be closed.

VENICE CITY OFFICES will be closed Monday, but City Hall offices in Granite City and Madison will be open for business.

All Madison County offices will remain open Monday with the exception of the 3rd Judicial Circuit Court system and the circuit clerk's office.

The latter two departments are operated under state jurisdiction; a county spokesman noted Wednesday.

AT SUNDAY'S memorial services in Venice, the Rev. W. J. Griffin Sr., pastor of Mount Olive Baptist Church in Lebanon, will be guest speaker.

"Rev. Griffin is a gifted speaker who has the ability to sound like Dr. King," the Rev. John Henry Williams, New Salem pastor, said this week.

"If you close your eyes and just listen, you would think it was Dr. King speaking," he added.

THE MINISTER invited the public to attend the memorial services taking place in the New Salem multipurpose building adjacent to the church sanctuary.

Refreshments will be served (Continued on Page 5)

New bridge deck at Pontoon Beach

Nearly $5 million in area highway and bridge construction project contracts, three involving Illinois 111, have been awarded by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The concrete deck on the bridge carrying Illinois 111 over the C & N W and N & W Railroads in Pontoon Beach will be removed and replaced by Tomcat Contracting Inc. & Staunton Fuel and Material under a $1,551,982 contract.

In another $1 million-plus bridge upgrading in Madison County, the superstructure and portions of the substructure carrying Illinois 111 over the MO-PAC Railroad two miles south of South Roxana will be replaced by Staunton Fuel and Material under a $1,297,000 contract. Illinois 111 also will get resurfacing work from Brighton, 5.45 miles south to Illinois 267, under a $1,072,858 contract awarded to Charles E. Mahoney Co., Belleville. Charles E. Mahoney also was awarded a $1,008,517 contract to do bituminous concrete resurfacing on 4.45 miles of Illinois 267 south of Jerseyville.

Tax warrants approved for Nameoki road district

By SUSANNE INDELICATO Staff writer

NAMEOKI — A slowdown in tax revenues from the Madison County treasurer's office has forced Nameoki Township to approve and sell tax anticipation warrants for financial support, officials said this week.

The Town Board of Trustees approved resolutions allowing two tax warrants of $20,000 each for the road and bridge district, and one $20,000 warrant for the special hard road fund. The action came during Monday's meeting of the board.

"WE'RE NOT GETTING any funds from the county at all," Nameoki Township Supervisor Harry Briggs said.

The Town Board authorized three tax anticipation warrants for $20,000 each for the town fund during the 1985 tax year (1986 collection) on Dec. 23. Two of those warrants have been sold, Briggs said Tuesday.

Trustee Ken Davis asked Briggs if it is possible to force County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus to release more tax revenues to the township.

"CAN'T WE go over his head? Has he ever been shown how much he's costing us?" Davis asked.

But Henkhaus said he has been releasing tax funds to the township. The last distribution was made Jan. 3, he said.

The final distribution will be made when Henkhaus' office staff finishes balancing its books, he said.

DISTRIBUTIONS are two to three months ahead of last year because real estate tax bills were mailed earlier this year, Henkhaus said. Nameoki Township is to receive a total of $233,544, he said; so far, the township has received $192,317 and is owed $41,227.

Tax payments from area railroads have not been disbursed, Henkhaus said, because the taxes were paid under protest, as they are every year.

NAMEOKI TOWNSHIP'S fiscal year ends Feb. 28, Briggs said. He doesn't think the township will have to sell all of the road and bridge fund and special hard road fund warrants before the end of the year.

Tax anticipation warrants are issued when the township's tax collection revenues are held up or slow down. The borrowing is done in anticipation of future real estate tax collections.

In other action Monday, the trustees approved transferring $1,271 from the town fund for contingencies and using it for unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation.

ANOTHER $3,005 was transferred from contingencies in the road and bridge fund and also devoted to unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation.

Briggs explained the transfers were due to insurance cost increases.

Workshop set on required election financial reports

Evelyn M. Bowles, Madison County clerk, has announced that a workshop will be held on Saturday, Feb. 1, at 10 a.m. at the University Center's Mississippi Room, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, to inform candidates, political committees and interested citizens as to filing obligations under the Illinois Campaign Financing Act.

Bowles said, "It is important in this election year that everyone running for office knows when to file certain campaign contribution reports and what information should be included. We want to help everyone so that the law is followed in every respect."

The workshop will be administered with the assistance of the Illinois State Board of Elections. The main topic that will be discussed are procedures for completing reporting requirements.

"We will try to answer any questions you may have. The public is invited to attend," Bowles said.

Isaiah 51:3 "... Therefore my people are gone into captivity, because they have no knowledge."

How terrible it is to dwell in the richest nation in the world, under a great democratic government, and still be in captivity. There is weeping and wailing all about us. We have the world's finest banking system and still have an abundance of poverty. The finest hospitals and medical delivery system in the world, and sickness abounds all around us.

The words of Jesus ring in my ear today. "I am come that ye might have life and have it more abundantly. Seek the kingdom of God first and all these (daily needs) shall be added unto you."

We must turn to God's Word again. Liberty is found in Christ. And He whom the Son makes free is free indeed. The true riches and true healing, the abundant life, are to be found in us! Greater is He that is in you, than He that is in the world.

The knowledge of Him will free us, from captivity. Today.

Port discusses waste incinerator proposal

By CAROL PATTERSON
Correspondent

GRANITE CITY — Taking care of waste is being investigated by the Tri-City Regional Port District. Building an incinerator for the Port District area and the adjacent bluff region is being considered by the port authority's board.

WITH AN ESTIMATED area population at 95,000, a 200-ton-per-day unit would be necessary, said port engineer Jerry L. Lavelle at the board's meeting Monday.

"You're talking about a waste disposal plant that would take five to eight years to construct before it can go into operation. But I think it's worth investigating," Lavelle said.

The authority should meet with the area's mayors to determine the level of interest in the project, Lavelle said.

Because the incinerator concept was developed only recently, no building sites have been proposed. Officials are considering the option of having possible construction work handled by the authority, and allowing a private company to handle the incinerator operations.

MORE LIKELY, Lavelle said, would be selection of "a company with the expertise to design, build and operate the plant. Then the collectors would just deliver it to the incinerator."

The speculative estimate for plant construction is $18 million, but Lavelle foresees no investment by the port authority.

"It's out of our field of expertise, Lavelle said.

The district is not currently involved in handling waste.

Gateway BPW to hear 'Foundation' speaker

Ruth Shaw of Collinsville will be guest speaker at the Gateway Business and Professional Women's dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 20, at Jerry's Cafeteria (formerly Bill Burns'), 1920 Edison Ave.

All working women are being invited to attend the dinner, which will focus on the theme, "Foundation."

Mrs. Shaw was a home economics teacher in the Roxana School District for 18 years and later was in food services and the home economics department in the Collinsville school system until 1973.

Active in Collinsville BPW for many years and especially in the Individual Development Program, she remains dedicated to the BPW program.

She also is involved in church activities and travels extensively. Her talk before the Gateway members will explore the Celia M. Howard Fellowship program and its benefits to working women.

Circuit breaker forms available

State income tax and Circuit Breaker forms will be available this year in the office of Madison County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles, in Edwardsville.

The clerk's office is making the forms — the IL-1040 individual income tax return and the IL-1363 Circuit Breaker Tax Relief claim for senior and disabled citizens — available as a public service to county residents.

Other state income tax forms and schedules can be obtained by writing the Illinois Department of Revenue, Box 3545, Springfield, Ill. 62078 and specifying the forms needed.

Taxpayers can also use a new toll-free line (1-800-732-8866) to get answers to their state tax questions or to request forms.

State revenue officials expect 4.7 million Illinoisans to file state income tax returns this year. The deadline for filing is midnight April 15.

Senior and disabled citizens have until Dec. 31, 1986, to submit their Circuit Breaker claim forms to the state in order to receive property tax and additional tax relief.

Eligibility for the Circuit Breaker program has expanded to include persons with incomes up to $14,000, a $2,000 increase over the level last year.

In addition, the program now features pharmaceutical assistance for Circuit Breaker claimants who use prescription heart medications, including cardiovascular (heart medicines), antihypertensives, diuretics, potassium and anticoagulants.

Venice parks face 1000% increase in cost of insurance

The Venice Park District is another governmental body plagued with insurance problems, the Rev. John Henry Williams, president of the Venice Board of Park Commissioners, said this week.

The board will meet at 7 p.m. today at the Venice Recreation Center to review the insurance situation. Tonight's session is a continuation of a recessed Jan. 6 meeting.

Liability insurance presently available to the park district has increased to $24,000 annually, representing a 1,000 percent raise over the $2,400 budgeted for this year, Rev. Williams said.

From what the board has learned so far, insurance carriers estimate an additional $25,000 premium charge may be expected to cover liability of the district's new water slide, he said.

Efforts are underway by various Illinois park districts to form an insurance pool, thereby reducing costs to each district participating, Rev. Williams said.

Annexation to be considered

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — A petition for annexation into the village may meet some opposition at the next Village Board of Trustees meeting Jan. 28.

Ricky Jones wants to annex a mobile home in Hartline's Third Subdivision into the village, but Trustee Lou Whitsett is concerned about a private road on the property.

"Five years from now somebody may expect us to maintain it (the road), even build it," he said during Tuesday's Village Board meeting.

Whitsett moved to deny the annexation, but withdrew the motion when village attorney Keith Jensen recommended the board wait to take action until Jones could be present to speak on the petition. Jones was absent from Tuesday's meeting.

Other matters coming before the board included the following:

- Liability insurance on the village's buildings has been obtained. Clerk Mary Warren told the board. The policy, from National Ben Franklin Insurance Co. of Illinois, costs about $100 more per year, she said.

The village still is seeking liability insurance on its police cars.

The village's liability insurance expired Dec. 6 when the insurance carrier did not offer a renewal, it was noted. The village paid Cassens Insurance Co. $1,800 for $1 million in liability coverage during the past year.

A zoning request allowing Don McNew to operate a saw sharpening business at his home, 3068 B Street, was approved by the board.

The Illinois Department of Transportation informed the board its $36,734 motor fuel tax maintenance program has been approved.

The police chief was authorized to advertise for bids for a new squad car. The purchase of two police radios, costing a total of $990 installed, also was approved.

Warren was authorized to order street signs and poles for the village.

Foster parents needed here

GRANITE CITY — Foster parents are especially needed for teenagers who have successfully completed a residential treatment program.

These teens need a foster family before they are reunited with their biological families or move into an apartment on their own, Vivian Sanders said. She is resource development coordinator with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services' regional office.

John is one of these teens. He was frequently involved with law enforcement and school officials because of curfew and truancy violations, she said.

His resentment of authority and displays of anger included throwing things and shouting. Eventually, this led his parents to admit they were unable to control his behavior.

When John was 14 years old, he was placed in a foster home. Unfortunately, the foster parents also were unable to control his behavior by the usual means of rewards and withholding privileges, Sanders said. They feared his outbursts of anger, and his truancy violations were causing the family extreme anxiety and loss of sleep. After six months, the foster parents asked that he be moved.

A group home was selected for John, offering counseling and therapy to help him learn appropriate ways to express his anger. He has been in the group home for one year and now exhibits some respect for authority and rarely displays his temper.

He is an enthusiastic student in a special class where his work is two years behind that of his peers. He is now ready for a foster home.

In order to keep John from slipping into his old habits, he needs foster parents who have had considerable experience and training in managing teens with difficult behavior, Sanders said.

The Department of Children and Family Services provides a monthly board payment to help foster parents meet the expenses of caring for a youngster. Medical, dental and other special expenses also are paid by the state.

Those interested in a teen like John, or in foster care in general, may call Jeanette Rettle, resource development specialist, Department of Children and Family Services, at 876-8985.

Deaths up last month, births, marriages down

MADISON COUNTY — Fewer people were born or married in the county last month, according to figures released by Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

The number of deaths in December 1985 increased over those recorded in December 1984, statistics show.

Births numbered 253 in the county last month: 138 males and 115 females, with one set of twins. That's down from the 275 births recorded in December 1984.

There were 223 deaths last month, compared to 161 a year ago.

Marriages numbered 184 in December 1985, down from the 186 recorded in December 1984.

Solution to jaywalking offered

There's a problem on Nameoki Road. High school students are running across it. Cars are not stopping for them. It's a dangerous combination.

Two students have been struck there and hospitalized during this school year. The best way to stop jaywalking by high schoolers on Nameoki Road is to make jaywalking unattractive. Police Chief Bill Harris has tried to get that across to students by issuing jaywalking tickets, and traffic tickets to those adults who drive through the crosswalk.

He recognizes it's not enough, but his options are limited. If students do not want to go to the crosswalk and push the button that changes the traffic lights at 7th Avenue and Nameoki Road, there's not much Harris can do. It's a complicated problem, but there may be a solution.

The school could set up a fence on its property to hinder the youngsters. The flaws we see in that idea are it would have to be a long fence so they couldn't go around it and a high fence so they couldn't climb it. This would make it a costly fence, so we wonder if the district could afford it.

The other alternative is less costly. On the median between Mr. Donut and the high school, a fence could be erected. It need not be a high fence, because only an absolute fool would try to climb it amid Nameoki Road traffic. The fence needn't be any longer than the median.

Harris told us he likes the idea. He seems to be for anything that's going to make it safer for the high schoolers. But Nameoki Road is state property and it's up to them to install a fence.

District 8 Engineer Dale Klohr told us he knows of no place anywhere in his district that he's been asked to put a fence on a median. Klohr's main concern is making sure the fence is maintained. He anticipates it will be hit by cars and have to be rebuilt from time to time.

He said, however, his concerns don't mean he wouldn't ask that the fence be installed. Once he was made aware of the situation on Nameoki Road by the Press-Record, he, too, expressed interest in making the area safer. He said he will send someone out to examine the situation.

In the meantime, Mayor Von Dee Cruse said he, too, will look at the proposed fence. At first glance, he said, it just might do the trick. Putting a fence in the median is a very simple idea. For a change, a simple answer just might be the right answer to a complex problem.

Adlai says leadership can help

Adlai Stevenson is convinced of two things: That Illinois is experiencing difficult times. And that prosperity and employment can be higher if the state has more enlightened leadership, such as he would provide as governor.

In a visit to Granite City this week, the likely Democratic nominee acknowledged there is much talk and activity at Springfield, but stressed his belief that too many programs and expenditures are inappropriate and misdirected.

Stevenson would fine-tune state actions to regional needs, as voiced by each region of the state. Citizens and leaders would define those goals and set priorities, rather than citizens exhausting themselves competing with each other for industries and other economic gains.

Among this region's needs that Stevenson has studied is some method of spreading out traffic more evenly between the various Mississippi River bridges to ease congestion. Specific factors he is reviewing include better highway access to various bridges, and development of a mechanism that could attract federal funding for the bridges' structural and deck maintenance.

The Democrat's decision to campaign vigorously could make it a fascinating race as November nears. He trailed by 5,078 votes in a big 1982 turnout and was denied a recount by the Illinois Supreme Court. He obviously is unhappy over the outcome and intends to win this time.

As Stevenson sees it, the present administration has run out of whatever good ideas it may have had 10 years ago, and no longer is in touch with the electorate. He believes the governor is too willing to spend tax funds to curry public favor, throwing big sums wildly at problems rather than determining and responding to actual wishes and priorities.

Obviously, the Thompson administration feels just the opposite and will defend its approach, while pointing with pride to many 1976-86 Illinois accomplishments.

It is this kind of dialogue which can give the public better insight into the candidates and issues. A spirited campaign seems certain, and it could well lead to better times for those most affected by our state government — the people who live, work, play and shop in Illinois.

Speed limit on Maryville Road called too low

To the Editor:

I just wanted to write and say that I appreciate and share the thoughts on traffic rules (in Pat Foley's Jan. 5 column, "Some drivers need refresher.")

I would imagine that several people stopped for speeding are doing so because somewhere back down the road they were stuck behind one of the slow-to-move-on-green drivers. I fit into this category.

Also, there are those who won't go left on green without the arrow on. You may, unless the sign says, "Left on arrow only."

There are different turn rules for different directions at the ever-popular traffic controversy intersection of Nameoki and Johnson. Perhaps a downtown mall will alleviate some of this congestion.

While I'm on the subject of the downtown mall — what a great idea it is — what good will it do until traffic flow allows you to get there easily.

Also, in regard to Joseph Bieniecke's comments, I live on Maryville Road with a 25-mile-per-hour speed limit in front of my house. I can get up to 25 mph from my house to the church next door, where I preach, without being unsafe.

That, I suppose, is why the Granite City police sit in our church driveway and the other nearby churches — to get the speed limit down to 35 on his way home from work and miss the guy doing 65 drag racing his buddy.

I understand, although I wasn't living in Granite City at the time, that Maryville Road was built as an outlet to go around the popular Nameoki-Johnson intersection. But who wants to go around town at 25 mph and risk a ticket?

I believe this section of Maryville

Road has a 25 mph limit because a few years ago a child was killed on Maryville Road.

If that is the reason to lower the speed to 25 — and perhaps it is — then all the world should be 25, just like the world should have seatbelt laws.

I wear my seatbelt, but if the legislature was concerned with my safety rather than the number of states passing a law to keep out mandatory air bags, they would force us to wear a helmet when I'm on a motorcycle.

Once again, I wear mine, but the law doesn't require it.

I propose a 40 mph limit on Maryville Road to Terminal Avenue, and from Terminal to Illinois 162, an open area, a 50 mph limit. Then strictly enforce that speed.

GC resident worried about politicization

To the Editor:

It seems that every aspect of Granite City life is so entrenched in politics that it's hard to know who to trust to do a job strictly for the sake of doing a good job without questioning their deepest motivations for doing said job.

I would venture to say that having been involved in charitable work and political affairs most of my adult life, most of the people I have met who have chartered out a plan in Granite City to dominate every aspect of political life to the point where no field has been left untouched.

However, I have noticed a very small but totally dedicated group of people who have chartered out a plan in Granite City to dominate every aspect of political life to the point where no field has been left untouched.

Fields that used to be left alone and apart from politics, such as charity, education and religion, are being saturated with politicians who go wherever to win friends and influence people to further their political ambitions.

I agree it's a smart move to get around, be seen and be involved in all phases of public life. But when the only reasons for these ventures are selfish motives, it must be stopped.

A small town must always be vigilant to power-hungry individuals who will stop at nothing to control the lives of the rest of us because we are unaware they exist.

A strong, vigilant newspaper is always a great help in keeping the people informed when things don't seem to be quite right. But we, as individuals, must keep people in the public life aware that we know and care what is happening in our town and we will expect an accounting.

We have some important races coming up that will affect each and every one of our lives.

One of these elections is in education. If we have learned anything from the last election involving education in this town, we will see how very important it is to be watchful of this particular race. Gratefully, after all the previous problems of the Granite City school district, we are starting the new year on a strong financial footing and a wonderful new superintendent of schools, Dr. Max Redmond.

I was, at first, agitated going out of town to get this position filled.

But after having met this gentleman — and he truly is a gentleman — we in Granite City were blessed to have acquired a man of his insight and ideals to meet the needs of our children.

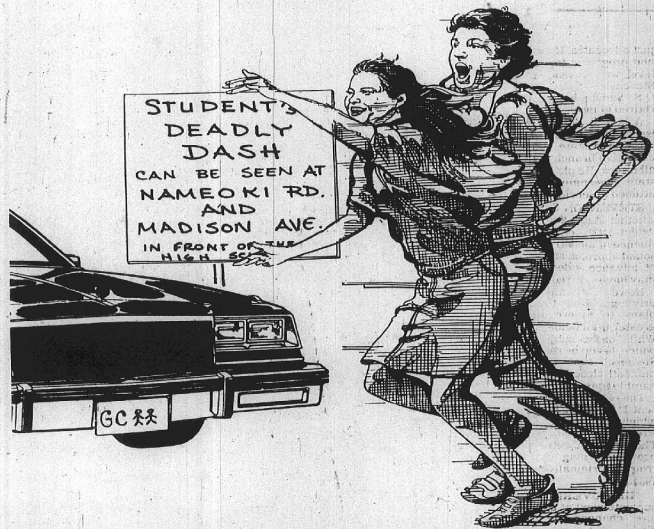

When you think of class, you must think of Dr. Redmond. If you have not met him, readers, call and make an appointment to do so.

I promise you will be impressed. When you leave his office, go out and make an effort to find out the qualifications of all those who are running for this position.

After you have met Dr. Redmond and the candidates, your choice will be an educated one and easy to make.

It's only for your children and grandchildren's future. What could possibly be more important than that? See you at the polls.

Is the mall idea a good one?

What do you think about the city administration's proposal to build a $7.5 million shopping mall covering two city blocks downtown?

Linda McGee, Granite City

"I think it's a good idea. I think it'll bring in a lot of business to Granite City and that's just what we need. Look what it did for St. Louis."

Richard Schnyder, Collinsville

"Some people say it'll be a good idea; some people say it's not. I wonder about the people who own buildings and businesses in that area. They (the city) sure are going to have to do something."

John Hauck, Granite City

"It'll never fly. There's not adequate parking (downtown) and there are too many stores on the outskirts (the Nameoki Road shopping district) that are more convenient for most of the people."

Important to honor Dr. King and his dream

To the Editor:

I am thankful to the almighty God for President Reagan signing into law, and Congress approving, the 1983 bill to make the birthday of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a legal public holiday.

It's not so much that people are getting out of work, or closing schools, but because he was a man for racial justice for all mankind.

Dr. King based his program of nonviolence on the teaching of Christianity. I cannot remember any other person other than Jesus Christ that united both Black and White, Jews, Catholics and other denominations of religions like Dr. King did.

As a person belonging to the Black race, I believe we as Black people all over the world should be proud and rejoice in our hearts that America has finally begun to pay tribute to one of the greatest Black men who gave his life for all mankind.

We have over 11 national holidays that are observed in America, maybe more. There are only two that I will say have more effect than Dr. King's: Christmas, the celebration of Christ's birth, and Easter Sunday, the resurrection of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

What would have happened to America if Dr. King would have started preaching violence and hate? We all are created in God's image; why not have equality?

The Bible says, "Give honor to whom honor is due." On Jan. 20, Monday, and thereafter we should pay tribute to this great man.

I believe if it was not a national holiday, pay or no pay, I would have taken off from work and thousands more would have done it across the nation.

Some people don't agree with honoring Dr. King's birthday. That is their right, but we have our right to honor him just like anyone else. We are supposed to be law-abiding citizens and obey.

The observance of Dr. King is a freedom and a price that we are all going to have to pay.

The struggle for equality is a long way from being over, even in 1986. Dr. King once said, "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere." Injustice is a sin and it is morally wrong as well as spiritually wrong.

We are free because Jesus Christ freed us long ago. St. John 8, Chapter 36: "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed."

It is good that this day has been set as a legal holiday because it gives our children and future generations a chance to learn more about our great leader that God had put in this world.

Dr. King raised the conscience of this nation. King said the best way to fight evil is to overcome evil with good and with nonviolence.

The struggle of Dr. King is the reason Blacks are able to hold jobs, political positions, better housing and have a good education. We are far better off now than we have ever been, because of Dr. King's movement.

The doors have opened for our White brothers and sisters, Americans, Indians and Spanish-speaking Americans.

Dr. King was for humanity, not just Black people only. Some White people suffer, also. But we as Blacks suffer the most just because of the color of our skin.

Our Jewish brothers and sisters have suffered, but no other race has suffered or been treated so badly in America as the Black race. Dr. King's dream is not a nightmare. We shall keep it alive forever.

I remember going to the gravesite of Dr. King near his church, Ebenezer Baptist, in Atlanta, Ga. On his tombstone the words are: "Free at last, Free at last, Thank God Almighty, I'm Free at last."

It made me think Dr. King's death brought him freedom and rest. As long as God gives me life on this earth, I will continue to fight against any injustice brought in any form or shape.

The cry is all over the world. I want to be free. We here in America should not feel free until all our people are set free, regardless of race, creed or national origin.

Over in South Africa we can hear the cries of our Black brothers and sisters against Apartheid, saying, "We want to be free." Dr. King's dream will come to reality, even in South Africa.

Israel was down in Egypt over 400 years and God raised up a leader called Moses who led them to the promised land. Black people have been in slavery over 400 years, and God raised up a leader by the name of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

These leaders are gone, but their spirit is still with us. Bishop Tutu is a leader; Minnie Mandela, the Rev. Baesha in South Africa. The cry is still "I want to be free."

Justice seems to take its time, but we as a people are used to being late and long to suffer.

I want South Africa Apartheid advocates and their president to know what the Bible says: "The first shall be last and the last shall be first."

One day, our sisters and brothers in Africa will be free.

Justice will come, and freedom will fall like the rain from Heaven. We have faith in our God, who watches over the birds. We know he is watching and looking at the injustice in this world.

In conclusion, Martin, we are still fighting with nonviolence. We have made little progress, but we are still dreaming.

When justice and freedom come, Martin, we will wake up with you and our Lord and say, "Free at last."

just advocates. If you don't put plans and programs together at the state level, we have nothing to advocate," Stevenson said. He served in the U.S. Senate beginning in 1970 and retired in 1980.

Asked to define other campaign issues, the former state representative and state treasurer said the executive branch's failures apply to all issues. He pledged to reshape the state government to make it more attuned to serving the public.

STEVENS said he doubts whether state police roadblocks — to detect DUI (driving under the influence of alcohol) violators — are a sound approach, since there is a lack of advance evidence that a crime may have occurred.

However, because driving is a privilege rather than a right, he plans to explore the subject in greater detail before taking a stand. While on the subject of the state police, he said he recalled when Gov. Stevenson sent troopers to permanently close Madison and Venice gambling casinos in 1980.

The candidate also will study present freedom of information rules, which have been assailed by Illinois Press Association members. Gov. Thompson has been criticized for approving wording sharply different from that originally proposed for the 1984 law.

"THE GOVERNOR and the state superintendent of education seem to have changed their stands and agreed with my views on school consolidation," Stevenson said with apparent satisfaction.

He had issued a major position paper Jan. 8 urging local control of schools, with district merger proposals delayed, and consolidation elections linked to curriculum diversity rather than numerical enrollment guidelines.

"There is no clear correlation between school size and either student achievement or educational efficiency," Stevenson said. "The Board of Higher Education already has set curriculum requirements for high school students to advance to college."

"CONSOLIDATION should continue in Illinois as a function of economic and educational necessity. But this process should be facilitated by a state government responsive to local desires and needs. So far, the state's involvement, including the governor's flip-flop, has caused bewilderment, resentment, and a retardation of consolidation."

Stevenson reiterated his goal of regional growth programs. "For Metro East, it may involve steel industries; for Decatur, food; for Chicago, health projects," he said.

He called for close cooperation between Illinois and the federal government in coordinating U.S. aid requests, including mass transit funding.

TO WIN THE OFFICE in the November election, Stevenson said he will devote all his time, thought and energy to campaign activities and will strive to assure that "my message is clear" to voters.

While confident of victory, he indicated, he will work tirelessly for votes and will not hesitate to find fault when he perceives a lack of wise leadership by the state. He also will emphasize ways he feels governmental processes can be improved.

following the service, Rev. Williams said.

"It is good this day has been set as a legal holiday because it gives our children and future generations a chance to learn more about this great leader," Rev. Williams said.

"DR. KING RAISED the conscience and consciousness of this nation and his message was clear. He said the best way to fight evil is to overcome evil with good and with non-violence," the pastor added. The civil rights leader's efforts to win equality through non-violent means won him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964.

On April 4, 1968, he was assassinated in Memphis at the age of 39.

REV. WILLIAMS and Arnold Johnson, manager of the Venice Park District, will leave Sunday night for Atlanta, where they will take part in Monday's memorial march, one of the nation's largest public tributes.

The Atlanta march will start in the downtown area and conclude at Ebenezer Baptist Church, where Dr. King served as pastor, Rev. Williams said.

Distribution of paper

Intense efforts in the short period paid off with a good system of delivery.

"AFTER THREE WEEKS of working on the distribution of the paper, we now feel we have it pretty well under control," Jarvis said. "We have 82 youngsters delivering the paper, most of whom were already delivering a route. We also have motor routes. We're making every attempt to get the paper out to those who want it."

"Though creating a new delivery system from scratch in a short period was difficult, Jarvis said the move will be beneficial to subscribers."

"We plan to act immediately on any distribution problem and we'll have a better and more controlled operation," he said.

Machinery breakdown means company layoffsBy DAVID GOSNELL
Staff writer

SAUGET — Layoffs are the result of a major breakdown of a key piece of machinery at the Cerro Copper Products Co. in Saugat.

A press used to make copper tubing cracked on Dec. 31 and caused the company to lay off 250 to 300 employees, said Cerro Copper Products president Henry Schweich.

"A high percent of our production depends on this (the press)," said Schweich.

Described by Schweich as "a unique piece of equipment," the press can apply up to 6,000 tons of pressure to push solid copper through a hollowing process to make copper plumbing fixtures.

Schweich estimated repairs to the press will take at least two months.

"We have been working (on repairs) on a round-the-clock basis since the breakdown," he said.

The breakdown will not affect employees who work in the refinery section of the plant. Cerro employs 650 to 700 people at the plant.

Though the repairs will allow production to resume, they are temporary measures. The company will eventually purchase a new press but Schweich noted that the press is not a common purchase item.

"It's not an off-the-shelf item," he said.

The cause of the crack is unknown but Schweich said no employees were at fault.

"It's tough on our employees, but we've had an excellent degree of support from our customers and our employees," said Schweich.

Madison students will mark Martin L. King Jr. birthday

The birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. is being celebrated by students in Madison Community Unit District 12. Students in all social studies classes will be studying the life of the slain civil rights leader.

Books that celebrate the life and accomplishments of Dr. King have been purchased for use in classrooms by students in grades four through eight.

These special texts inform students about the universal message of Dr. King's life and dream for America. This study is intended to strengthen students' skills in comprehensive, vocabulary, critical thinking skills. Bulletin boards, posters and varied visual media have been developed to decorate the schools and spread the message.

All classes will have the opportunity to view "Happy Birthday Dr. King." This film translates his life, times and message into contemporary language, utilizing such persons as Wynton Marsalis, Andrew Young, Stevie Wonder, Willie Tyler and his puppet, Lester, Full Force, and Gladys Knight and the Pips.

On Friday, Jan. 17, at 1:30 p.m., Blair School will have an assembly to honor Dr. King. David Jones, a professional musician from St. Louis, will provide special music.

The Rev. John Henry Williams will tell stories of Dr. King, and students and visitors will participate in the singing. All members of the community are being invited to attend.

New assistant chief named in MadisonBy DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

MADISON — Police Sgt. Charles J. Bridick, a 17-year veteran of the Madison department, was appointed assistant chief of police by Mayor John Bellicoff at Tuesday night's council meeting.

The mayor also recommended that Robbie Robbins be named assistant fire chief to replace Robert Hollenbeck, who resigned the position. Hollenbeck will continue to serve as an emergency medical technician and fireman, the mayor said. The aldermen unanimously agreed with the appointments.

A LETTER from the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) suggested the city replace the stoplights at Third Street and Madison Avenue with stop signs.

The traffic signals are malfunctioning, and IDOT estimated the repair cost would be $10,200. The city would be required to pay half of that amount.

The letter also said Madison Avenue traffic lights at both Sixth and 12th streets also are in need of repair work. Cost at each intersection would be $75,000 if the lights were completely replaced, it was estimated.

COUNCIL MEMBERS agreed to a state recommendation to install stop signs at the three sites on a trial basis.

Alderman William Gushler said, "If the signs should prove to be a workable solution to traffic flow, I suggest the city eliminate the electric signals."

In a cleanup project along Market Street, workmen on two street department trucks will begin taking debris and trash to a dump, the mayor told the council.

"It will probably take three weeks or more to clean up an area that has been used as a dumping area for some time," Bellicoff said.

Crime increases in Madison

then 1985) were: miscellaneous incidents, 351 and 614; stolen licenses, 17 and 18; bicycle thefts, 30 and 45; worthless documents, 2 and 12; traffic accidents, 213 and 236; arrest reports, 174 and 429; and vehicles towed, 64 and 70. There was one murder at the truck stop and it remains unsolved.

ALTHOUGH THE POLICE department operated with two fewer officers — Sgt. William Fanning is on disability and Tom Volotski resigned — the workload increased due to annexation of the truck stop area, Papa said.

Officers actively working besides the chief of police and Detective Paul Bargiel, and the number of arrests credited to each, were listed by Papa as follows: Sgt. Charles Bridick, 40; former chief Donald Bridick, a patrolman during the latter part of the year, 46; Steve Skokio, 287; Richard Ballew, 35; Curtis Bradley, 126; Steve Shelly, 241; and David Mooshegan, 223.

Defendants still trying to oust special prosecutor

Defendants charged in an alleged scheme to illegally reduce Madison County property tax assessments were granted additional time for discovery procedures in their attempt to remove the special prosecutor assigned to the case.

The defendants include James W. Barton, former Madison County supervisor of assessments.

THE DEFENDANTS allege Springfield lawyer Bruce D. Locher failed to take a proper oath of office.

On Jan. 10, Associate Judge Wendell Durr granted additional time for discovery and also allowed the defendants to file an additional count to their complaint, one alleging Locher cannot serve as special prosecutor because he is Sangamon County public defender.

They allege a conflict in that, as public defender, Locher represents indigent criminal defendants against the state, while in the assessment case he is prosecuting on behalf of the state.

DURR SAID FRIDAY it appears to him that a written oath of office, dated May 29, 1984, and signed by then-chief circuit judge Andy Matosian, may resolve the oath controversy.

The document was found in court files after the defendants filed the action seeking to remove Locher.

Durr also said he believes the conflict of interest issue is one that cannot be addressed in the pending action to remove Locher, but said he would consider any case law to the contrary submitted.

A lawyer for Locher, Richard A. Hollis, unsuccessfully urged the judge to grant summary judgment in favor of Locher.

HOLLIS SAID the defendants had ample opportunity to challenge the validity of the May 29 oath and had not done so.

Attorneys for the defendants argued that a summary judgment would be premature.

Tyler Bateman, attorney for defendant Beverly Delaney, said Locher in a deposition had said he had no recollection of the May 29 oath.

Hollis contended the defendants were "involved in some kind of smear campaign," using Locher's lack of recollection to impugn his integrity when, in fact, lack of recall of specific incidents and dates is commonplace in everyday life.

Durr said, "Unless discovery turns things around, this case ought to be concluded promptly."

The 12-week course trained selected college graduates to apply communication skills, professional knowledge, leadership and management in positions of responsibility.

Hursey is to be assigned at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. He is a 1985 graduate of McKendree College in Lebanon.

His wife, Erica, is the daughter of Donald C. Primmer of Columbus, Ohio.

JOHN ROLAND
Army National Guard Private John A. Roland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny R. (Ann) Roland, 4552 Breckenridge Lane, Pontoon Beach, has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training, including weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrol work, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations.

Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman.

Roland was taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad. He is a 1985 graduate of Granite City Senior High School.

KEVIN SMITH
Airmen Kevin D. Smith, grandson of Willie E. James, 1300 Klein St., Venice, and a nephew of Edna Jones, 1212 Douglas St., Venice, has completed Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

The airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations during the six-week course.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Smith will now begin on-the-job training in the command and control operations field at Beale Air Force Base in California.

He is a 1985 graduate of Madison High School.

NORMAN HOOSIER
Marine Cpl. Norman P. Hoosier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. (Dorothy M.) Hoosier, 2905 Boston Place, was recently awarded the U.S. Marine Corps Good Conduct Medal.

His wife, Melissa, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell (Paula) Travis, 6241 Highway 162.

The soldier is a 1983 graduate of Granite City High School.

GC phone county customers to pick long-distance firms

Granite City residents with telephone prefixes 225, 334, 451, 452, 788, 876, 877 and 973 now can select a long-distance company to handle calls outside Illinois Bell's service area. Those who don't select a company will be assigned one randomly.

The customer selection process, known as Illinois Bell's DIAL 1 PLUS or "equal access" program, is being phased in throughout the state. It is a result of the court-approved settlement which separated Illinois Bell from AT&T.

COUNTRY IS ALWAYS IN AT HOMESPIN GIFTS & CUSTOM FRAME SHOPPE
1312 19th St.

(American Telephone and Telegraph).

Before DIAL 1 PLUS began, customers had to dial up to 23 digits to reach some long-distance companies.

ON APRIL 11 they will be able to use other long-distance companies as they have been using AT&T — by dialing "1" plus a telephone number.

DIAL 1 PLUS information and an equal access ballot — listing the long-distance companies customers can choose from — are being sent this week to area customers.

Participating long-distance companies are AT&T, GTE Sprint, MAX Long Distance, MCI, Republic Telcom, SBS Skyline, ITT and US Telecom.

AREA CUSTOMERS who don't select a company must be randomly assigned to participating companies in Granite City because of a May 31 order by the Federal Communications Commission. Previously those who did not select automatically remained customers of AT&T.

"You can return the ballot to us or you can contact the long-distance company of your choice directly," said Illinois Bell Community Relations Manager Mary McCormick.

"It's important for you to choose a company because, if you don't, we'll assign you to one."

Customers who don't select a company by Feb. 10 will be sent a second ballot and given about 10 more days to choose.

Those who fail to return either ballot or fail to contact a company directly will be randomly assigned to companies in the same proportion as those who select.

"IF 40 PERCENT of Granite City's customers choose Company A, for example, 40 percent of the remaining customers will be assigned to Company A," McCormick said.

Customers who are assigned and want to change companies can do so without charge within six months of assignment. After that, there will be a $5 fee. The same charge also applies to those who make a selection but change their minds.

Illinois Bell is encouraging customers to select a long-distance company to avoid random assignments. The decision on which company to select, however, is entirely up to the customer.

THOSE WITH QUESTIONS about long-distance companies' rates are to contact the companies directly.

Toll-free numbers for each of the companies are listed on the response card.

Questions about DIAL 1 PLUS options can be directed to Illinois Bell at 1-800-372-8871, during the week between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Early child educators plan to meet Feb. 4

Early childhood professionals are invited to attend the Feb. 4 meeting of the Southwestern Illinois Association for the Education of Young Children in the cafeteria at Citizens for the Disabled, 500 Wilshire Drive, Belleville, at 7 p.m.

Rose Marie Smith, early childhood educational specialist and family therapist for the St. Louis Day Care Association, will speak on "Communicating with Parents." Refreshments will start at 6:30 p.m. The association welcomes all educators, professionals and parents interested in young children. Yearly dues are $20.

Weekly Health Tip

ASK YOUR DOCTOR
When your doctor prescribes drugs, be sure to ask him precisely how often during the day (and night) the drug is to be taken — whether before, during, or after meals — with or without water or other liquid — and how much liquid. For correct and best results, it is important to take medicines precisely as directed.

County jail leaks; its walls, floors cracked

Madison County Sheriff Emil Toftant is recommending that an engineer evaluate the five-year-old county jail in Edwardsville because of cracks in walls and floors, a leaky roof and other problems.

"Some of the defects are so serious the County Board would be well advised to retain the services of a professional structural engineer," Toftant said in a letter to the Buildings Committee.

He attended a committee meeting Jan. 13, saying, "I'm afraid if we don't do something about it — we may not have a jail."

THE REINFORCED concrete building was completed in 1980 at a cost of almost $5 million.

An inspection could be done to determine whether the defects endanger the health and safety of the occupants, added the letter.

Some committee members asked for time to review it. The committee made plans to tour the jail later this week.

Toftant listed 45 defects in the building. They include cracks in walls and floors, a leaky roof, cracked paint, poor ventilation, and problems with the heating and cooling systems.

SOME INTERIOR WALLS are separating at the joints, Toftant said. Walls in the administration area have many cracks, some stretching from the floor to the ceiling, and floors are cracked throughout the jail area, he said.

He added that the roof leaks throughout the building. When it rains, there are "nothing but buckets lined up and down the hallway," he said.

The jail was designed by Henry R. Gabriel & Associates of Granite City, S.M. Wilson & Co., also of Granite City, was the contractor.

Gabriel said in an interview Monday that many of the roof problems could be attributed to damage from the 1983 tornado.

THE ROOF WAS PATCHED after the tornado. "It just hasn't been right since," said Buildings Committee Chairman Junior Milton.

He said replacing it would be the only way to solve leak problems.

Gabriel said the built-up roof is layers of paper impregnated with asphalt. Moisture seeping between the layers can deteriorate it, he said.

He estimated replacement would cost at least $100,000. He said he has not seen the cracks or received complaints about them.

PAUL HAWKINS, county building and zoning administrator, said they could be patched.

You're bound to have these cracks after five years," he said.

Milton said he has seen the cracks and that they do not cause structural problems. Yet, the sheriff said, he has "some serious reservations about the structural integrity of this building."

Periodically, it should be noted that while the county has spent an enormous amount of money on computer-controlled heating and cooling systems, the exterior walls of this building are of such construction that they completely cancel out any benefits of the heating or cooling system," Toftant wrote.

GCC art students learn to view objects differently

Students enrolled in the Basic Drawing class during the spring semester at Granite City Campus not only will learn to draw but also will learn to view objects in a new light.

CCC art instructor Bob Moskowitz said the non-credit class is open to people with little or no previous art experience.

Once many of the students don't have the basic knowledge of art, we attempt to force them to see things differently," Moskowitz said. "We have to convince students there are no outlines and makes them understand what they are looking at."

Moskowitz said objects to be drawn are placed in front of a direct light source. The light forms light and dark sides of the object, giving it more of a three-dimensional look.

"It's the same with drawing a face," he said. "Light comes from one direction and shadows become part of the form. Shapes of light versus shapes of dark describe all forms, all basic values and planes."

The four-week class will be from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Mondays, from Jan. 20 through Feb. 10. The class fee is $25. Supplies are extra.

Registration for non-credit classes will be accepted through the first day of the class.

King service by county Monday

A memorial service honoring the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will be held at 11:30 a.m. Monday, Jan. 20, in the Madison County Courthouse lobby at Edwardsville. County employees and the public will be encouraged to attend the service.

The Madison County Board decided not to make Monday's Dr. King observance an official county holiday this year, but scheduled the memorial service to show respect for the slain civil rights leader.

Many of the county officials will be in operation Monday, but the following will be closed: the courts, the circuit clerk's office, the state attorney's office, the probation office and the public defender's office.

Among those helping arrange the memorial service are County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer and Board Member Don Garrett, of Madison. Garrett, the only Black member of the 29-member board, opposed adding another paid holiday, saying some who would take the day off did not admire Dr. King or his activities to achieve equal rights.

Garrett, who praises the work of the assassinated pastor, said each person can honor Dr. King by dedicating themselves to his principles.

At its meeting Wednesday morning, the board filed but did not discuss a letter from the Madison, Alton and Edwardsville branches of the NAACP (National Association for the Advancement of Colored People).

It said, "The three branch chapters of the NAACP that represent Madison County, Alton, Edwardsville and Madison, have united together to encourage you as board members that represent the people of Madison County to issue an executive resolution making Dr. King's birthday an official county holiday for all employees as observed by the nation as a whole, on Jan. 20, 1986."

The Rev. Harold Wilson Sr., president of the Madison Branch, said he feels the board should designate the King birthday as a formal holiday.

King holiday closing

All Secretary of State offices and facilities will be closed for Martin Luther King Day, Sec. of State Jim Edgar has announced. Downstate driver services facilities outside Cook County will be closed Saturday, Jan. 18, and will reopen Tuesday, Jan. 21. All other offices and facilities will be closed Monday, Jan. 20, and will resume business Tuesday, Jan. 21.

Republican candidate can seek school job

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

GRANITE CITY — Republicans will have a candidate for regional superintendent of schools, federal Judge James L. Foreman decided Jan. 10 in East St. Louis.

"Had I been removed from the ballot, the people of Madison County would have had no choice in the November election," said Dale W. Hammond, the only Republican running for the school post; several Democrats will compete in the primary.

THE CIVIL SUIT sought to allow Hammond to run for the office. He was denied that right on Dec. 10 when County Clerk Evelyn Bowles refused to accept his petition because he did not present a certificate from the State Board of Election Commissioners attesting to his eligibility.

In the ensuing suit, Hammond named Bowles, the Illinois State Board of Education and Madison County as defendants in the suit. "We made a constitutional issue of it and the defense couldn't prove it was a necessary rule," Hammond said. "I've been engaged in education for at least 2 years of the previous years in full-time teaching in a common public school in Illinois."

INCLUDED IN THE LIST of requirements from the state is that candidates must prove they were "engaged in education for at least two years of the previous years in full-time teaching in a common public school in Illinois."

Hammond, who holds a doctorate degree, said he has lived all his life in the area, but his best teaching in Hazelwood, which is in St. Louis County.

The court said the rule was unconstitutional, stating, "Illinois is preventing one of its own citizens who wishes to run for the office from working outside of Illinois."

Momix to perform at SIUE

Momix, a contemporary dance company, will appear at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Monday, Jan. 27, at 8 p.m. in the Communications Building theater.

The Momix performance is part of the university's new Arts & Issues series, a group of programs featuring outstanding performers and distinguished speakers.

Included in the remainder of the series will be the National Theater of the Deaf, the Chamber Society of Lincoln Center and Dr. Michael DeBakey. A special South Africa Program is scheduled Feb. 5 and 6.

Momix originated in 1980 as a solo created by Moses Pendleton for performances of its parent company,

Pilobolus. Pendleton suggests that Momix is "something that refuses to be categorized — a performing collective using movement somewhere between dance and gymnastics to create innovative nonverbal theater."

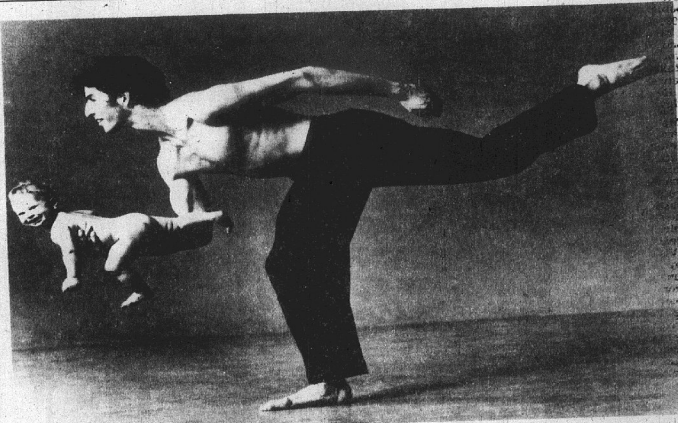

Momix's work has been incorporated into major opera productions at LaScala, the Grand Theater de Geneve, the Deutsche Oper Berlin and the Paris Opera. The company has toured throughout the world, with performances in Italy, Spain, Japan, Monaco and the Canary Islands. The performance at SIUE is part of the company's first United States tour, which will be followed by a return to France and Italy, as well as a debut in the Netherlands.

Tickets for the performance are $3 for the general public, including SIUE faculty and staff, and are available at the University Center ticket office.

SIUE students, as well as area university, community college and high school students holding SIUE Cougar cards, may obtain free tickets to all Arts & Issues events at the University Center ticket office or at the door (first-come basis).

For further program and ticket information, interested persons may call 1-692-2230 or write to: University ticket office, Campus Box 1067, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026-1067.

MOMIX, a contemporary dance company, will perform at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on Monday, Jan. 27, at 8 p.m. The show will be in the Communications Building theater, and admission is $3 for the general public.

BAC schedules spring computer classes

Belleville Area College's career business department is offering a number of classes in computer this spring.

Classes in WordStar, Database, Lotus 1-2-3 and Symphony are being offered at the Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

The WordStar, Database and Lotus 1-2-3 classes are all five-week, one-credit-hour courses. The Symphony course is an 18-week two-credit-hour course.

James Cox, dean of career business programs at BAC, said the computer courses are perfect for individuals and large and small companies.

"Someone can come in and take a one-hour course in WordStar, Database or Lotus for $25," Cox said. "To go to a seminar on these programs might cost as much as $800 plus food and lodging."

He said Mid America BancSystem Inc. had recently taken advantage of the classes offered and sent employees to be trained. The cost to the company was about $2,000 for the courses. If they had gone to computer training seminars, it might have cost as much as $30,000.

For information on these or any data-processing courses at BAC, students may contact John Halton at 1-235-2700, Ext. 382.

SIU journalists sponsor contest

The Society of Professional Journalists/Sigma Delta Chi at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is sponsoring an essay contest for Metro-East area high school juniors and seniors in conjunction with the national society.

The theme of the essay is "What Freedom of the Press Means to America."

The winner of the national contest and the sponsoring teacher will be honored at the society's Freedom of Information Day event in Washington, D.C., on March 14. The society will pay for the student and teacher to travel to Washington to accept the award.

In addition, the winning student will receive a $500 cash award and the winning essay will be printed in "The Quill," the society's magazine that goes to its 25,000 members across the nation. The two winners will each receive a $250 cash award.

For information about entering the contest, students in the Metro-East area may contact their high school journalism teachers or English teachers in schools without journalism programs. The essay deadline is Jan. 25.

For additional information, students may call the SIUE department of mass communications at 1-692-2230.

Computer camp

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a computer camp for children this winter, beginning Jan. 18 and extending through March 8.

Sponsored by the School of Education, the eight-week camp will be conducted in two separate sessions on Saturdays. Children can attend the morning session, from 9 until 11:30, or the afternoon session, from noon until 2:30.

Children in grades three through eight will be eligible to attend. Participating students will have an opportunity for individualized skill development in two computer languages, LOGO and BASIC.

BASIC instruction will cover both beginning and advanced techniques of programming in graphics and music writing. In LOGO, students will focus on developing procedures and subprocedures, recursions and other refinements of programming. Instruction will be on Apple IIe microcomputers.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED

Attorney At Law

The question often arises as to what constitutes "permanent total disability" under the Illinois Workers' Compensation Act. The Illinois Supreme Court has found that a person is totally disabled when he cannot perform any services except those for which he is permanently totally disabled. Usually when a person is permanently totally disabled, an arbitrator will award the claimant a weekly amount from the employer for life. At some future time, the employer may petition the Industrial Commission to have the compensation paid in a lump sum rather than weekly.

Under what circumstances should the Industrial Commission change the mode of the award? Several Illinois cases have indicated that the interests of both the employer and the employee are relevant in deciding whether a permanent total disability award being received in installments should be paid in a lump sum.

In one recent case, the claimant sustained an accidental back injury in 1977 while working for the American Can Company. In 1982, an arbitrator found the man to be permanently totally disabled and awarded him $187,52 per week. Subsequently the claimant filed a petition for a lump sum payment of his award.

At the hearing before the Industrial Commission, the claimant testified that he was barely able to survive on $187.52 per week. He wanted the equivalent lump sum in the amount of $178,707.31 paid to him rather than the weekly installments. The Industrial Commission denied the claimant's petition, and the case eventually wound up on appeal.

The Appellate Court noted that lump sum awards should be given only in exceptional circumstances. They found it was not in the claimant's best interest to stop the weekly payments since the weekly award was not taxable while the interest accruing from the lump sum payment would be taxable. In addition, if the claimant received the money weekly, he received an annual rate adjustment of 7.8% per year. If a lump sum payment was awarded, he would forfeit his right to the annual rate adjustment from the State. An additional consideration was that the claimant's only plan for the future was to place it in a savings account and money was to place it in a savings account and money was to place it in a savings account and money was to place it in a savings account.

DONNA

876-
5657

Jessica Marie Sipes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith (Mary Beth) Sipes of Madison, was baptized Sunday, Jan. 12, at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Madison.

The Rev. Frank Kordak officiated at the service and godparents were Kevin Sipes and Mrs. Barbara Carlson, an uncle and aunt.

The infant was born Nov. 21, 1985 at St. John's Mercy Hospital in St. Louis.

Grandparents of the new arrival are Mrs. Adele Wasylik, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny (Nelda) Sipes, the late Harry Wasylik and the late Opal Sipes. The great-grandmother is Frances Zabotka.

After the ceremony, a dinner was held for the honoree at the Madison Fireman's Hall, attended by family and friends.

A birthday party was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wall Jr. of Madison for the 9th birthday of their daughter, Christina Wall.

After refreshments were served, the guest of honor opened her gifts.

Those present included the honoree's parents, Tim and Brian, her sister, Dawn, and Mrs. Phyllis Holtmann and son, Eddie, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wall Sr., grandparents of the guest of honor, and Donnie, Ruby and Brad Dayton, Christina Dugan, Shawna Catlett and Mrs. Georgia Wargin.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil P. Wall Sr., 918 Grand Ave., celebrated their 34th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Jan. 11, with a service at the Church of God Prophecy in Madison. They were married on Jan. 12, 1936.

A reception was held in the church hall hosted by the honoree's children, Mrs. Ivan (Diane) Cowin of Alhambra, Josephine Smith of Ponton Beach and Phyllis Holtmann, Jimmie P. Wall and Virgil P. Wall Jr., all of Madison.

Mr. and Mrs. Wall have 23 grandchildren and 23 great-grandchildren. Mr. Wall has been a deacon at the church for 20 years, is on the finance committee and serves as the maintenance man for the church. His wife served as the church clerk for 40 years.

During the tribute service, Madison Mayor John Bellcove gave a short talk praising the couple, who also received a card of congratulation from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

The reception hall was decorated with gold floral centerpieces made by Mrs. Georgia Wargin, a neighbor. During the social event, the guests of honor received 70 guests including those from out-of-town, Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Stogsdill of Alton, Mo., Mrs. Verna Smith of Doniphan, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cosby of St. Louis, the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Dees of Ponton, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stogsdill and family of St. Louis.

The Madison Parents Club will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 21, at 7 p.m. at the Harris School gymnasium.

Discussions on the agenda will include making final plans for the February taste test and craft auction.

There will be a guest speaker to brief the club members on the progress of fingerprinting in conjunction with a Madison School Board project.

All parents are being encouraged to attend the meeting and a babysitter will be provided for children two years and older, the president said.

DeMolay Mothers plans chili supper

Plans to assist the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, with a chili supper on Feb. 18 were finalized at a meeting of the Mothers Club on Jan. 7 at the Masonic Temple. The fund-raising project will take place from 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. Tickets costing $2.50 can be purchased from any member of the chapter or the Mothers Club. Carryouts also will be available.

Jolene Keel, newly-elected president, presided and appointed committee chairmen to help with the supper. They include Mary Stuart, Pat Tsigiaroff, Betty Ebrecht and Jo Meyer. The president announced the Illinois DeMolay installation was held in Marion on Jan. 11. The Columbia chapter will meet Jan. 18 and Mascoutah Jan. 25. On Jan. 17, there will be an initiation at the O'Fallon chapter.

Gym nights for DeMolay members will be held each Monday from 7 to 9 at Louis Baer School in Madison, the president said.

Others attending the session were Lois Hebbelthwaite, Mary Stuart, Pat Tsigiaroff, Dee Stoyanoff, Jo Meyer, Betty Ebrecht, Hilda Few, Joyce Toussaint and Sharon Cory.

Births

Births recorded at St. Elizabeth Medical Center include:

GIRLS
Mr. and Mrs. Steven Dwayne Williams, 2614 Missouri Ave., Jan. 10, Leslie Nicole, 8 pounds, 1 ounce.
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Haymaker, 2424 State St., Jan. 6, Melissa Michele, 6 pounds, 15 ounces.
Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Burns, 2025 Madison Ave., Jan. 7, Tabbatha Marie, 9 pounds.
Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Wright, 1513 Second St., Jan. 7, Liberty Ann, 6 pounds, 12 ounces.
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ambuehl, 2356 Morrison Road, Jan. 11, Rebecca Elizabeth, 9 pounds, 2 ounces.

Parents club to meet Jan. 21 in Collinsville

Parents Without Partners, Chapter 91, will meet Tuesday, Jan. 21, at the Chamber of Commerce building, 221 W. Main St., Collinsville, at 8 p.m.

Guest speaker will be a member of the Eating Disorder Unit team from CareUnit Hospital in St. Louis. The presentation will be on eating disorders, including anorexia and bulimia.

A slate of officers for the forthcoming year will be presented and an election will be conducted at the Feb. 18 general membership meeting, according to the President Evelyn Stephens.

Pets taken to lonely

Pets may not work the same curative magic that chicken soup does, but they do reduce loneliness and help drown out the blues. More and more, pets are being taken in regular visitation programs to nursing homes, children's hospitals, senior citizen centers, mental health clinics and even prisons.

GC Jr. Service reviews project

A review of the successful project, Breakfast With Santa, was conducted at the January meeting of the Granite City Junior Service Club.

The club president said donations for the fund-raising event were received from 41 businesses and individual donors.

Proceeds from the annual program provide money for the club to use for eye examinations and the purchase of eyeglasses for needy students in elementary schools of Granite City, the president said.

State president to visit GC Eagles home

Charles Knox, Fraternal Order of Eagles state president, will visit the Granite City Eagles home, 2558 Madison Ave., during Eagles State Officers Weekend Jan. 17 to 19.

Knox will be accompanied on his trip by his wife, Rose, by Michael Smith Jr., past president of the Eagles, and by Smith's wife, Stephanie, this year's auxiliary state conductor.

Other Eagle officers, grand Aerie, state Aerie, district and local officers who will attend the weekend include: Lewis H. Reed, Ernie Branca of Herrin, John Crabli, Charles Landfried, James Whitedge, Clyde E. Meyer, John Piper, Bob Stanton Jr., Ellis Wiseman, Bill Hemken, Don Horn, Guido Gasperin, Harold Love, Virgil Gibson, Bud Shaffer, Larry Barnhart, Roy Green, Mel Havron, John Aubuchon, Chris Von-Nida, Larry Patton Sr. and Howard Reinhardt.

On Jan. 17, the Eagles Home will host an informal get-acquainted evening for the guests and musical entertainment will be provided by Bill Jenkins at 8:30.

At 11 a.m. Jan. 18, a dart tournament will be held to raise funds for the local Eagles' Art Eframann Cancer Fund. At 6:30 p.m., a dinner will be held to honor the state president and out-of-town guests, followed by entertainment by the Auxiliary's Kitchen Band.

On Sunday, an officers' breakfast for all Eagle members will be served at 9 a.m.; at 2 p.m. the local Eagles Home will host a monthly meeting for Aerie District 7, at which time installation of new district officers and a class initiation of new candidates into the Eagle organization will be conducted. A dinner will be served to President meeting, according to President Larry W. Barnhart.

'Quest for Quality' topic of Trio Unit Homemakers

Trio Unit, Madison County Homemakers Extension Association, met in the fellowship hall at Hope Lutheran Church last week.

First Vice President, Marilou Lybarger introduced local leaders Naomi Chapman and Eva Loman, who taught the lesson on "Quest for Quality."

Chairman Helen Miller presided over the business segment and presented hostesses for the day, Lucille Etheridge, Marge O'Neil and Margaret Gehling. They served a dessert course at noon.

The safety chairman gave a report on using seatbelts and encouraged members to "buckle up."

Dates of interest announced included the Illinois Homemakers Extension Federation annual meeting at the University of Illinois March 25, 26, 27; a Madison County Homemakers Extension Association meeting at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Highland April 30; and activities promoting the HEA at St. Clair Square on April 18-19.

A county membership kickoff luncheon is set for Feb. 17 at 11:30 a.m. and there will be a spring cultural arts workshop Feb. 24.

Trio Unit will meet again Feb. 4 at Hope Lutheran Church for a lesson on "New Food Products and Trends." Prizes for the day went to Rose Kayser, Dorothy Kinney and Marie Durbin.

Present were two guests, Anne Giese and Ora Swigert, and members Ruth Brave, Arline Brinkmeyer, Mary Elliott, Roberta Feder, Vivian Forshee, Lucille Georgeff, Shirley Goff, Ivan Graklanoff, Emma Jakich, Arminda Lee, June Lux, Rosina Mangaracino, Ada Matras. Also, Genevieve McComis, Pat Mitchell, Audrey Nagy, Helen Pfeiffer, Florence Rapp, Bea Rittenhouse, Helen Robertson, Helen Roessner, Lucille Sackett, Clara Schilling, Lucy Stewart and Mary Wilson.

Pagan religious movement discussed

The pagan religious movement as it exists today will be the topic of a luncheon discussion in the Cahokia-Kaskaskia Room of the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Wednesday, Jan. 22, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Sheila Ruth, professor of philosophical studies and director of women's studies at SIUE, will address the questions of what it means to be a pagan in modern America, how pagan views differ from the Judeo-Christian tradition and who the modern-day pagans are. Ruth will also discuss the various ritual and magical aspects of paganism.

The program is free and open to the public. Participants may bring a sack lunch or may purchase lunch in the cafeteria ahead of time.

For more information, interested persons are being asked to call the University Programming Office at 1-692-2617.

Navy Mothers donate to veteran hospitals

Quad-City Navy Mothers Chapter 850 members have agreed to donate funds to the Naval hospitals in Danville, Great Lakes, Memphis, Tenn., and Jacksonville, Fla.

Commander Jean Francis presided at a business session in the VFW Hall in Granite City last week. Mrs. Glennis Misturak was installed as a new member.

The commander said the club will purchase a handmade quilt to be given at the installation of officers in May.

During a social hour, Mrs. Francis won a mystery prize and Clara Layton won a special prize. The next meeting Jan. 23 will be held at the VFW at 7:30 p.m.

DeMOLAY SWEETHEART Kristine Toussaint, left, 1986 Sweetheart for the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, receives her official sash from the retiring sweetheart, Lisa Gibbons. Miss Toussaint was crowned at a dance in the Masonic Temple attended by DeMolays, Job's Daughters, parents and friends.

Kristine Toussaint named Sweetheart of Demolays

Kristine Toussaint was crowned chapter sweetheart of James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, at a dance in the Masonic Temple.

The honoree is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Toussaint of Granite City and she was crowned by Lisa Gibbons, the chapter's 1985 sweetheart.

Master Councilor Keith Payne served as master of ceremonies. Eddie Bodnam, senior councilor, escorted Lisa Gibbons, and Charlie Yarbber, chaplain, was escort for Miss Toussaint for the crowning ceremony.

Eddie Bodnam, Chris Brewer, Terry Cory and Charlie Yarbber were members of the dance committee and Glen Goodman, Greg Sipes and Paul Brand were in charge of music for the evening.

The Mothers Club prepared and served refreshments under the direction of Marilyn Bodnam, Liz Gibbons, Ginny Cotter and Jo Meyer.

Job's Daughters, Rainbow Girls and DeMolays from Bethels, assemblies and chapters in surrounding cities were guests.

Among the guests were Beth Bodnam, the chapter's 1984 sweetheart and Illinois DeMolay Sweetheart for 1984-85, Jackie Cummins of Mascoutah, Illinois DeMolay sweetheart for 1985-86, and Jay O'Brest of Centralia, state sweetheart representative and Illinois DeMolay junior past master, councilor.

Luebbert-Blasingame

Ronnie Luebbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Linda) Luebbert of Granite City, and James Blasingame, son of Mr. and Mrs. John (Shirley) Blasingame of Granite City, have announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

Miss Luebbert is a 1984 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she received a bachelor's degree in fine arts. She recently opened a dance academy known as "The Turning Pointe" in Edwardsville, where she teaches ballet, pointe, tap, jazz and gymnastics. She graduated from Granite City High School in 1979.

Her fiancé is a 1986 graduate of SIUE, where he earned a bachelor's degree in business. He graduated from high school in Granite City in 1980. He is employed at the Olin Corporation's Winchester Division at Alton as a marketing associate.

The couple is planning a Feb. 15 wedding at Hope Lutheran Church.

C. Brian Wandling and Janet Fraundorf

Fraundorf-Wandling

Janet Fraundorf, daughter of Mrs. Marie Fraundorf of Collinsville and the late Barney Fraundorf, and C. Brian Wandling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wandling of Collinsville, have announced their betrothal.

The bride-elect is a senior student majoring in management information systems at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is employed by SIUE as a student worker.

She graduated in 1982 from Collinsville High School and is a volunteer emergency medical technician for the Maryville Fire Department and Ambulance Service.

Her father is a former longtime chief of police of Madison and served as sheriff of Madison County from 1962 to 1966.

Her fiancé is a senior student majoring in mechanical engineering at the University of Evansville, Evansville, Ind. He also graduated from Collinsville High School in 1982 and will graduate in May at Evansville.

The couple is planning a Sept. 6 wedding in Collinsville.

Sharon Crumbley and Michael Stegall

Sharon R. Crumbley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Crumbley of Granite City, and Michael S. Stegall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace D. Stegall of Granite City, have announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

Miss Crumbley is a 1984 graduate of Granite City High School. Her fiancé also is a 1984 graduate of Granite City High School and is employed by Bradley Carburator of St. Louis as an auto mechanic.

The couple is planning an April wedding at St. John United Church of Christ.

Gabriel Shrine 78 plans ceremonial

Gabriel Shrine 78, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, plans a special ceremonial for the February meeting, it was announced by Edna Brown, worthy high priestess, and Lloyd Lewis, watchman of shepherds.

Mary Ellen Lewis, supreme adviser, was special guest at the latest meeting.

Others introduced and escorted were supreme committee members, worthy high priestesses, watchmen of shepherds and past officers from the shrines of Cedar, Galilee, Gabriel, Gaspar and Pride of the West.

A memorial service was held for Anna Nagy and the group was told of the death of Nadine Brown, past worthy high priestess of Pride of the West and 1985-86 adviser for the worthy high priestess club.

Those reported ill were Chloe Simpson, John DeHart, Florence Spehr and Wanda Bartling.

A social was enjoyed in the dining room. Hostesses for the evening were Lena Wood, Mary Ellen Lewis, Mary French, Marie Baker, Edith Carpenter, Peggy Gibbons, Della Aulabaugh, Edna Brown and Lloyd Lewis.

Jerry's Cafeteria opens in GC

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY, Ill. — Jerry Rodrick is used to greeting customers who visit his restaurant, but not as the owner.

When dignitaries and the press converged on his restaurant Jan. 7, he seemed a little uncomfortable.

THE EVENT was an impromptu grand opening of Jerry's Cafeteria and catering, 1920 Edison Ave.

Rodrick, 47, stood riveted in the doorway to his kitchen, shaking hands with newspapermen, Chamber of Commerce representatives and merchants who came to welcome their new neighbor.

Business was booming. He had doubled his expectations since he reopened Bill Burns' Cafeteria in 1982.

While he was chatting and glad to be back with his visitors, Rodrick's eyes never ceased glancing down the service line. A few times he started into the kitchen to replace an item that was running low. There was plenty to keep him busy, but he stayed with his guests.

"THIS ONLY HAPPENS ONCE," Rodrick said.

Rodrick worked for his father at Rodrick's Restaurant on Namekagon Road for 20 years. Before he and his wife, Carol, took over the 40-year-old downtown business, they worked alongside Burns for two weeks.

"I wish it could have been a year," Rodrick said. "It was fun picking up the reins. We're going to continue to try and please Bill's customers."

That means continuing the tradition of fresh pastries and desserts every day.

"YOU COULD SAY we hand-picked our successor," Burns said. "We had a lot of offers; we think Jerry was the best. We want to see this restaurant continue for another 40 years."

Burns became co-owner of the Granite City, 1413 20th St., after his discharge from World War II service in 1945. He intended to stay in the business for six months.

He didn't work out that way. Burns said.

He sold the cafe and moved to a location on 19th Street near Delmar Avenue in 1984. He moved to his present location in 1979.

JERRY'S CAFETERIA AND CATERING opens this month with a ribbon cutting. Formerly Bill Burns' Cafeteria, 1920 Edison Ave., the business is now owned and operated by Jerry Rodrick, a longtime Granite City restaurant operator. Family members, friends and civic leaders participated in the ceremony.

"I learned this business the hard way," Burns said. "I've concentrated on good food, personal service and sensible prices. We've got customers that go back 40 years."

"I want to enjoy the rest of my time," Burns said. "I've got to visit and grandchildren to enjoy."

"Jerry is younger. He has the enthusiasm and personality to make it," Burns said.

"You could say we're passing the torch to the younger generation," Burns said.

RODRIK TAKES OVER the restaurant at a time when the city is trying to break new life into the downtown business district.

"There are people downtown," Rodrick said.

Rodrick said he has two private dining rooms, one with seating for 70 and another which seats 20. In addition, Jerry's will do catering and make cakes to order.

"WE'LL CONTINUE to honor Bill Burns' senior discounts," Rodrick said.

"When you grow up in the business, you want to see your name on the front of the building," he said. "I've always wanted to try things my way."

If Jerry's initial success is any indication of the general trend in the downtown business district, the downturn may be back on its feet sooner than anyone expected.

Associates, also disagreed with the Touche-Ross conclusion that IP had not significantly been involved in the management of Clinton until at least 1980.

Laros said his firm's study found an effective IP management team in place by 1978 (actual construction started in 1976).

THE THIRD consultant hired by IP, Phasos Services Inc., also found IP's management of Clinton "reasonable" and concluded IP should not be held responsible for any "discernible, significant impact on the cost and schedule of the Clinton project."

The $2.8 million cost so far for the three consultants, which is likely to increase for testimony at ICC hearings, will be paid by IP stockholders and not passed on to ratepayers, Haab said.

The $2.8 million cost of the Touche-Ross study commissioned by the ICC will be passed on to ratepayers under state law, Haab added.

HE NOTED ALL FOUR reports would have "no significance" if the ICC members chose to stick with a decision last August, in which they imposed a "cap" on the Clinton costs that could be passed on to ratepayers at $2.69 billion.

That was the company's share of the $3.14 billion cost estimate at the time (rural electric cooperatives are responsible for $450 million).

The cap, however, included a provision that further costs could be added to the rate base if they could be shown to be reasonable.

ICC MEMBERS indicated they would probably give considerable weight to the Touche-Ross report when it was filed.

Since then, IP has raised its cost estimate for its own share to $3.25 billion and possibly $3.35 billion.

Clinton costs allowed to be added to the rate base increase future bills for IP's customers.

The nuclear-powered electricity generating plant is in the final stages of completion.

Anyone interested in the aviation business may take an aviation management course offered by Belleville Area College this spring.

Aviation Management (AVIA 160) will be offered at the college's Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

Russ Strook, the course instructor, said the course covers the fundamentals of running an aviation-related business.

Anybody interested in professional aviation should take a course similar to this one.

The course will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays, starting Jan. 21 in Room 1512 at the college's Belleville Campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

stop-work orders in 1982 to meet quality assurance requirements of the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC).

IP Senior Vice President Larry Haab said Jan. 10 the firm will argue in hearings before the ICC that none of the Clinton costs should be disallowed.

"In general, the company believes it has satisfactorily managed the Clinton project and that the disallowances are not appropriate," Haab said.

At a Statehouse press conference, the company paraded before reporters representatives of three outside consulting firms it had hired to evaluate the management of Clinton.

EACH CONCLUDED IP had generally done a reasonable job in managing Clinton and shouldn't be penalized for cost overruns.

The consulting firms hired by IP also concluded the utility should not be held responsible for the stop-work orders, but rather it had reasonably responded to stiffer quality assurance requirements imposed by the NRC in the wake of the Three Mile Island fiasco and other nuclear plant problems.

The work stoppages were "not the result of a project history which evidenced serious quality assurance problems, but was primarily the result of NRC concern that the industry as a whole should undertake an upgrading of quality assurance procedures," said Burns and Roe Inc., one of the consultants hired by Illinois Power.

THE CONSULTANTS hired by IP also said the Clinton costs and construction period compared favorably with other nuclear plants under way in the same general time period.

Of 20 plants, Clinton ranked seventh in completion time and 12th in cost per kilowatt, Burns and Roe said in its report.

The representative of another of the consulting firms hired by IP, Michael Laros of Theodore Barry & Associates, also disagreed with the Touche-Ross conclusion that IP had not significantly been involved in the management of Clinton until at least 1980.

Laros said his firm's study found an effective IP management team in place by 1978 (actual construction started in 1976).

Concert to raise funds for Wildest Arts Center

Jean Kittrell, a local musician and singer, will perform a benefit concert for the Wildest Arts Center on Jan. 28 at 8 p.m. at the Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville.

Kittrell, who by day is a professor of English literature and chair of the English department at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is by night a performer in the greater St. Louis area.

She has three major musical affilations, two of which appear regularly on the Lt. Robert E. Lee, a floating restaurant-lounge moored on the Mississippi River just south of the Gateway Arch in downtown St. Louis. One group is the trio, The Jazz Incredibles, with John Becker on tenor banjo and David "Red" Lehr on sousaphone.

The other is the five-piece Old St. Louis Levee Band, featuring Lehr and Kittrell. The third group, while not working at one spot in St. Louis, is featured regularly in jazz festivals, in concerts for jazz clubs and at parties for jazz lovers. This seven-piece Dixieland band, known as Jean Kittrell and the St. Louis River Kings, is a band of bandleaders' led by Kittrell.

In addition to performing on the riverboat (1986 is her ninth season of playing a swinging barrelhouse piano and singing the blues on the Robert E. Lee), Kittrell also presents lecture-concerts about revival music in America for church and professional groups and does lectures/concerts about jazz for universities and for public television.

For the benefit performance at Sunset Hills Country Club, Kittrell will present an hour's solo performance featuring her renditions of Bessie Smith and Ma Rainey tunes, followed by a set with the Wildest Cats, a group she is assembling for the event.

The Wildest Cats will feature Dan Havens, who is a professor of literature at SIUE, on coronet; James B. Hansen, who runs training sessions in data processing, on drums; Warren Brown, professor of education at SIUE, on clarinet; and Carey Shely, an M.A. in music from SIUE, who is currently working with two St. Louis big bands. Additional musicians will be joining the Wildest Cats.

Tickets for the benefit concert are $10 and are tax-deductible. Tickets may be purchased at the Wildest Arts Center office, at M.B. and Annie's in Edwardsville and at the door.

'Little' men come up big

Basketball is a big man's sport. We all know that. Ever since Dr. James Naismith hung the first peach basket in the gym in Springfield, Mass., in 1891, coaches have been in search for that one "big man" who will give his team the edge.

There have been a lot of great basketball players in the last 95 years, but the ones who have really caught the imagination of the public are giants such as George Mikan, Bill Russell, Wilt Chamberlain, Artis Gilmore, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Ralph Sampson, Patrick Ewing, and now Manute Bol.

But the average man still holds a soft spot in his heart for the players he can more readily identify with.

As you might expect, high school players are on the whole shorter than NBA players simply because they haven't grown to the full sizes yet. But even prep teams often have players in the range of 6-8 or 6-9 who can dominate.

That is not the case this year in our area. The giants of the local basketball scene are giants in ability only. A check of this week's statistics seem to say that. Venice's Jesse Hall is the area's leading scorer (25.3 ppg) AND rebounder (12.9), and he's 6-3. That's a pretty good size, but it won't turn many heads on the street. And let's not forget his teammate, 6-1 Ed Ware, 10th in scoring with 17.2 points per game.

In sixth place in the scoring race is Granite City's Tim Hogan. At 5-9, Tim is a veritable midget in the world of basketball, even at the high school level. At last week's game against East St. Louis, the Flyers' scorekeeper was overheard grumbling in disbelief that Tim Hogan was tearing his team up by shooting, driving and generally making a pest of himself. Inch-for-inch, Tim is one of the best players in the area.

Almost as amazing is Tim's brother, Jamie. Though not the scorer Tim is, Jamie is being asked to come through with rebounding this year because Don Deterding is using what amounts to a three-guard offense. At 5-9, Jamie is asked to bang inside on the boards with the likes of East Side's bulky 6-4 forward Anthony Buckner. This, he has done without complaint.

He has 93 rebounds on the year (6.64 per game), enough to rank him in the top 25 in the Metro East area.

Madison also is being helped greatly by "small" players. At 6-8, Anthony Valentine is called by Coach Rodney Watson the team's floor general. Averaging 18 points per game, he is also in the top 10 among Metro East scorers. But how about Darrell Marshall? At 5-9, he is a whirling dervish for the Trojans, dealing out 31 assists this year. And at 6-0, Reggie Young is much like Jamie Hogan, playing at forward and being asked to do some rebounding. He has more than held his own.

Another top team in the immediate area, the Alton Redbirds, is led by guards Larry Smith and Bobby Collins, 6-3 and 6-4 respectively. Smith, headed for the University of Illinois next year, is second in scoring (24.6) and assists (10.4) and leads in steals (6.0). Smith is generally recognized as the top player in Southern Illinois, although there is talk in some circles that Venice's spectacular Hall is getting close. And Jesse has another year after this one.

Lady Stars cagers still trying to put it together

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — Ted Daniels knew there would be times like these. He just hopes they don't last too long.

Daniels, the women's basketball coach at Granite City Campus, has laid the foundation of a budding program at the junior college. He's waiting for the seeds to harvest.

But when you are starting from scratch, times can be tough. "There really have been no surprises," Daniels said. "With the late start I got with recruiting, I knew things would be tough."

Daniels was hired last May, but by then many of the high school cupboards were bare. So the first Stars squad has almost been a skeleton crew.

The roster reached a high of eight players, but has since dropped over the past weeks. Currently there are only six players active for duty.

Along the way, the Lady Stars have taken their lumps. Their season record is 1-6.

"We are definitely having growing pains," said Daniels. "But we plan to finish all of our scheduled games and learn from this year."

When you are the new kid on the block, sometimes you get beat up. Granite City is no exception. Understaffed and inexperienced, most of the six losses have been lopsided.

GCC fell to Parkland, 134-18; Lewis and Clark was a 98-22 winner; the Lady Stars fell to Rend Lake by 40 points. Perhaps the Stars' best effort was a 60-43 loss to Scott Air Force Base.

But through all of this there has been a silver lining — the play of freshman guard Lisa Henson of Highland. She has been the Stars' top scorer, recording games of 10, 12 and 20 points.

The team's other guard is Kim Stanley of Madison. Daniels projects bright things for Stanley, who as a high school junior played on a regional championship team. However, things have not worked out, Daniels said.

The center is Jamie Essengreis, another Highland product. The forwards are Monique Roberts of Madison and Kelly Anderson of Edwardsville.

Others who have played for Daniels are Cindie Kraus of Granite City, Trina Clayton of Madison, Patricia Kennedy of East St. Louis and Cindy Durgens of St.

Paul (Highland). Another bright spot has been the play of Roberts. She was a force on the boards in the Scott Air Force Base game, grabbing 20 rebounds (16 offensive).

"That's an accomplishment considering she never played organized ball before," Daniels said. Daniels said the Elmer's Glue that has held the team together has been the play of Anderson and Essengreis. Both volleyball players, they have been the Stars' most faithful supporters.

"They never miss a practice unless it can't be helped, and they always work hard," Daniels said. Both girls are sophomores. Still, Daniels hopes of team members can learn from the duo's work ethic.

"We need that total dedication for the two hours we have to practice," mentally. I was really pleased with the play of (center Eric) Jacks and (forward Reggie) Young. I thought they did a good job on Taylorville's big guys. Everybody contributed to this win tonight," said Watson.

In the first quarter it appeared that this would be one of those "whoever makes the last shot wins" ballgames, that is, until Madison's Anthony Valentine decided to go on one of his patented scoring sprees.

With his squad down, 12-10, Valentine sank a pair of free throws to tie things up at 12-12. Seconds later, following a Tornado turnover, Valentine popped a short jumper and was sent to the charity stripe where he capped off a three-point play by converting his free throw.

Following a bucket by Taylorville's Jon Livingston, Valentine retaliated by sinking a top-of-the-key jumper to give the Trojans a 17-14 advantage at the end of the first quarter.

After carrying a 33-29 lead into halftime, the Trojans opened the third quarter by outscoring the Tornadoes 10-4 in the first four minutes of the period to take a 10-point lead.

Warrior skaters blast DuBourg, 13-1

GRANITE CITY — Following a big win Saturday over division leader Francis Howell, the Granite City hockey team had what amounted to a practice game here Monday night against winless Bishop DuBourg.

The result was a 13-1 trouncing of the Cavaliers, who did not win a game last year either. Lee Schreiber led the way for the Warriors with four goals and two assists, while Bill Moore, Matt Krekovich and Todd Hinterser had four points apiece in an all-out assault against shellshocked goaltender Bill Steiman. Doug Sues also added a three-goal hat trick.

"A game like that is one I really wish we didn't have to play," said Granite City Coach Garry Henson. "It doesn't really prove anything and some of the players can pick up bad habits. They'll keep the puck and just rip away at the net. In a closer game against some of the better teams, they will pass the puck to the open man."

"But it does give me a chance to get everybody in the game and to try some things like moving players around to different positions."

Although allowing 13 goals, it wouldn't be stretching things to say that Steiman played well in the nets for the Cavaliers. He faced 64 shots

But Hinterser finally broke through at 8:14 with a backhander off assists from Krekovich and Pat Culbert. It was a power play goal, one of four in the game for the Warriors.

With Hinterser in the penalty box, Schreiber got his first goal on a seemingly harmless shot from left wing at 7:43 that went in off Steiman's glove. Moore got an assist. Schreiber completed a first-period hat trick with two goals in the final four minutes of the period. At 13:12 of the second stanza, he poked in a rebound after a scramble in front of the DuBourg net for his fourth of the night.

Hinterser scored the Warriors' second short-handed goal on a quick wrist shot at 9:54. Krekovich scored at 5:19 after being stopped on a breakaway. He got the puck in front seconds later and scored. The official at first disallowed the goal, thinking it had hit the goal post. Instead, it had hit the post in the middle of the net and bounced out. Sues scored his first just three seconds after a Cavalier penalty began. Garry Henson won a faceoff to the left winger, who slid a wrist shot along the ice behind Steiman.

Lady Warriors rout Madison

By GARY KING
Staff writer

MADISON — The Granite City girls' basketball team finally found out how much better it is to give rather than to receive.

Entering Monday's game against the Madison Trojannes, the lady Warriors were winless. The six defeats that Granite City had suffered this season had given birth to a hunger that could only be fulfilled with a victory.

Using a tenacious, unrelenting full-court press for most of the contest, the Warriors were able to fill their tummies with a 44-27 victory over Madison.

Things, however, did not begin well for Granite City, as they were unable to connect on seemingly easy shots from underneath the basket. But, the Trojannes didn't fare much better, as they led only 10-6 at the end of the period.

The Warriors opened the second quarter with a full-court press that not only disturbed the young Trojanette squad, but also shut them down for the rest of the evening.

A lay-up by Betsy Barrington and a pair of free-throws by Loretta Cox and Lisa Wiser gave Granite City a 17-14 halftime lead.

If Madison had any aspirations of making a comeback, they were ruined by the second half performance of senior forward Alicia Melton.

Melton, who was shut-out in the first half, exploded for nine of her game high 17 points in the third period as the Warriors clung to a 28-24 lead after three quarters.

Although the Trojannes had momentarily stolen Granite City's momentum late in the third stanza by scoring six unanswered points, the Warriors quickly recaptured it in the fourth quarter.

Behind the hot hand of Melton, and the superb defensive effort of Barrington and Cox, Granite City rattled off 12 straight points to take a 40-24 lead.

Madison was unable to post any points in the quarter until Tammy Deal sank a free-throw with 1:19 left in the game. Melton capped the scoring by nailing a long jumper from the corner to give Granite City their final margin of victory.

The full-court press that the Warriors installed in the second period proved to be the difference in the ballgame, as the Trojannes managed only 17 points in the final three quarters.

Granite City coach John Hutchings was pleased, not only with the win, but also with the effort his squad put forth in the contest.

"We really needed this win tonight, and it sure feels good. I was worried at times because they (Madison) wouldn't give up. They're a lot younger than we are, and I think that made the difference tonight. I thought we should have won by more, but we couldn't make anything fall in that first quarter."

"I was happy with the way the press worked for us tonight. We've been working hard on it in practice, and I think it finally showed. I'd really like to see it work even better for us as the season progresses," said Hutchings.

Hutchings also spoke highly of the play of Melton, who earned game honors with 17 points.

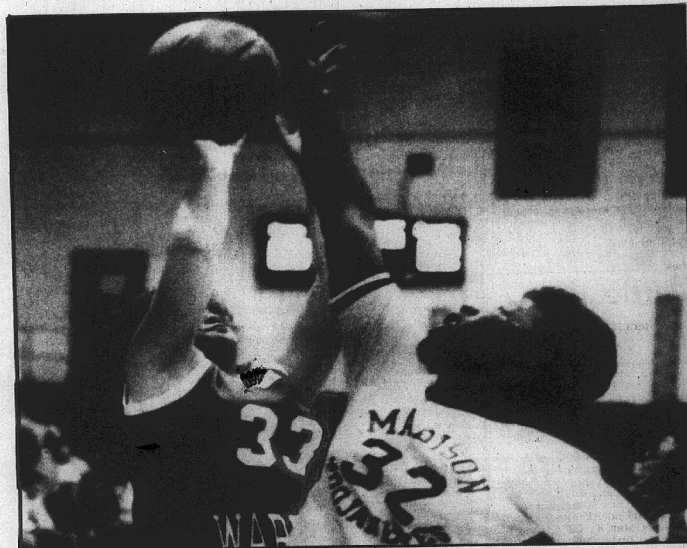

"Tonight was by far Alicia's best point production of the season. She's had opportunities all year, but they just haven't been falling for her. We need her to score some points for us in order to win."

The varsity squad was not the only Warrior team to taste success Monday. The JV squad also posted a victory with a 39-16 trouncing of Madison's junior varsity. Wendy Knollman was high scorer for the Warriors with 10 points.

Granite City was to play at Belleville West today.

Trojans

With his squad trailing 41-33, Taylorville's Scroggins cut the Madison lead to 51-47 by canning a pair of short jumpers. However, six free throws and a Darnell Marshall lay-up later, the Trojans held a 59-49 advantage with just over three minutes left.

The Trojannes staged one last rally when they rattled off six unanswered points to cut their deficit to 59-55; however, Jacks' block of a Weber jumper ended the threat.

Valentine was once again sensational, as he picked up 19 points to pace his squad to victory. Lamont Johnson chipped in with 14 to finish second in the scoring race; while Eric Jacks contributed 12 points for the Trojannes.

Watson was pleased with his squad's execution, as well as the pressure that they put on the Taylorville guards throughout the evening.

"I was very proud of the way the guys carried out the game plan tonight," Watson said.

"We knew that we had to pressure the Taylorville guards and keep them from getting the ball inside to their big men. This was a great Madison win, because Taylorville is a great ball club."

When asked about the possibility of facing heated rival Venice in the championship game, Watson took a very diplomatic stand.

"I'd like to see us get to face Venice in the championship game, but they've got a tough one against Litchfield. Whichever team we face, it will be a great ballgame," said Watson.

Madison, winners of the first Litchfield Mid-Winter tournament in 1968, its second appearance in the title game in the last three years, Madison beat Taylorville for the title in 1984. Last year the Trojannes lost to Mt. Zion in the second round.

The championship game will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Illinois Class A basketball: Good things, small packages

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor

Southern Illinois, and in particular the Metro East area, is saturated with good small school basketball teams.

The Quad Cities alone can lay claim to three state championships on the Class A level. It appears that good things do come in small packages.

This newspaper is blessed to be able to cover both Madison and Venice on a regular basis. Those two schools are synonymous with success when talking of small school basketball.

Recently, when Venice knocked off powerful Vashon of Missouri, it was another moment to savor. The Wolverines, the defending Missouri Class 4A champs, had a 20-game winning streak and a victory over Alton in the 7-Up Shootout.

But Vashon wandered into the snakepit and was bitten.

How tough is it to win at Venice? The Red Devils have won 15 straight at home over the past two seasons.

Madison has a tradition that other schools try to mirror. In the nine-year period from 1975 to 1984, the Trojannes won 20 or more games each season.

"This area is really a hot-bed for basketball," said Rodney Watson, the second-year coach at Madison.

"There are so many traditions," said Watson. The latest small school basketball poll by statewide sportswriters shows that eight schools from southern Illinois received votes. Carlyle (15-1) is the highest ranked team, holding down the No. 3 spot.

Mater Dei of Breese and Wescell have cracked the top 16. Other schools receiving votes were Winchester, Venice, Lebanon, Staunton and North Greene.

Watson believes that one reason small schools are so successful is that basketball is the No. 1 sport in those schools.

"You have a school like Chrisman (enrollment 140) and others like Coulterville and Teutopolis and they all have one thing in common — good basketball," Watson said.

"In other areas there are more (sports) to choose from, but in the small towns, it's basketball. The kids grow up playing basketball, and by the time they are in high school they are pretty good."

Watson speaks first-hand. He graduated from Paris High School in a community of about 10,000.

"People are really into it," Watson said. "It's the main topic of conversation at the dinner table. The town's identity from the team's success is a sense of pride for that whole area."

While Watson's Trojannes have yet to receive any votes in the small school poll, the magic of scheduling could benefit Madison.

The Trojannes have games with Lebanon (Jan. 24) and Teutopolis (Feb. 15), the state's second ranked team. Good performances would most likely allow Madison to garner some votes.

NOTES: The Illinois High School Association has made it difficult for several good small schools in the area to advance in the state tournament.

Lebanon, Madison and Venice all have been lumped together in the same regional at Duplo. Elsewhere, the regional at Mater Dei should be a dandy. Mater Dei, Carlyle and Oakville, who combined have lost just five times this season, are all in the same regional.

BIG SCHOOLS: Granite City has moved up two notches in the Class AA sportswriters' statewide poll. The Trojannes are No. 19. Alton is No. 10, while East St. Louis Lincoln (10-4) is No. 15.

All three schools have been assigned to different regionals.

SportsBriefs

GC Elks host 'Hoop Shoot' on Feb. 1

Local competition for the 14th annual Elks Hoop Shoot contest will be held at Grigsby Junior High School on Feb. 1 at 9 a.m.

The free throw shooting contest is for youngsters 8-13. Each contestant has 25 shots at the basket.

Local age group winners with the best score will advance to the district level Feb. 22 at the Vandalia Center on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Names of national winners will be engraved on the Elks National "Hoop Shoot" plaque on permanent display in the Nalmsith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

Hockey

In the third period, DuBois spoiled Schneke's shutout bid when Doug Overbeck's high shot trickled in off the goalie's glove at 9:31. The goal came with Granite City two men short. Tom Brown was in the penalty box for elbowing and Jay Stroheide was off for interference.

The Warriors closed with a rush, scoring four goals in the final 4:07. Moore, Suess, Henson and Suess again finished off the scoring.

In Saturday's win over Francis Howell at the North County Ice Rink, Schreiber was again the big gun with a hat trick, and Krekovich had three assists.

"Matt was all over the ice," Henson said. "That was a big win for us. They thought they were the cream of the crop, but I know we're a better team. But we had to prove it on the ice and we did. For all but about five minutes in the second period, we outplayed them. We had a 5-1 lead, then it was 5-3, but we held on."

The two wins leave the Warriors at 12-6 on the season and 6-3 in the North Division of the Mid-States Club Hockey Association. They play Friday night at 8:15 against Hazelwood East at the North County complex. A game originally scheduled for next Monday night at home against Hazelwood Central has been changed to this Sunday afternoon at 3:45, also at North County.

GC Boosters plan meeting on Jan. 21

The Booster Club of Granite City High School will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 21.

The meeting is open to the public and will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Underclass wrestlers win tourney

Granite City won the Collinsville Freshmen-Sophomore Invitational wrestling tournament Jan. 11.

The victory was the second tournament win for the Granite City which also won its own event on Dec. 7.

Place winners in the Collinsville tourney were:

—First Place: Bryan Pritchett (112). It was his third tournament win. Scott Moss (119), Grant

Abenroth (132), Rich Fenoglio (145) and Terry Stanley (167).

—Second Place: Derek Bloodworth (98), James Revelle (105), Larry Tankley (126).

—Third Place: Paul Millard (185).

—Fourth Place: Jim Stout.

Park baseball meetings are Jan. 16

The Granite City Park District will be holding an organizational meeting for the baseball leagues on Thursday, Jan. 16 at 7 p.m. at the Brown Recreation Center, Amos and Franklin Avenues, Granite City.

Covered at the meeting will be fees, general league information and discussion of rules. Since 1986 is the year to revise the rules, it is important for each team to be represented, as input from each manager or coach is appreciated.

Harold Brown and Steve Kessel will be in charge of the meeting, which is, for old teams as well as new.

BELLEVILLE AREA COLLEGE GRANITE CITY CAMPUS ATHLETE of the WEEK

PERRY JONES

THIS AWARD SPONSORED BY PEPSI-COLA

Perry Jones has been named the Athlete of the Week for Jan. 6-12 at the Granite City Campus. Perry was selected for his efforts in the Stars' 97-91 victory over Scott Air Force Base.

The 6'3" center scored 27 points and pulled down 17 rebounds as the Stars posted their sixth victory of the season. For the season, Jones ranks third in the region with a 10.3 rebounds per game average.

Perry is a freshman from Vashon High School in St. Louis.

This week's award sponsored by Pepsi-Cola.

For more information, contact the Wilson Park Office at 877-3059. Anyone interested in coaching a baseball team should also attend the meeting or call the office, as there is always a need for managers.
